1. Our Father spoke, and it was good, but Adam walked the earth alone so God created him a wife, her flesh from flesh, her bone from bone.
As You, O Lord, gave Eve to him to treasure, shelter, and adore, so bless this couple new and dear to have each other evermore.

2. Our Savior came and showed His love by suff'ring hell and death alone yet Jesus conquered ev'ry sin and won His bride a lovely crown.
O Lord of life, give man and wife
Your joyful, sacrificial care;
Your grace, an anchor for our souls,
Your strength to break each sinful snare.

3. The'eternal voice of Spirit cries,
"O come and join the wedding feast!"
He beckons all to Bridegroom's dawn, the glory of the Prince of Peace.
Bestow, O Spirit, eager hearts as we await our Bridegroom true and fill this couple, newly bound with love for spouse, delight anew.

4. All glory to the Father be, who calls the Bride to be His own through God the Son, the fairest Groom Who leads her to His heav'nly throne; and God the Spirit, living breath, uniting hearts in perfect love; supply us faith to walk with You until we dance in bliss above!
