

NON-EXCLUSIVE SCHOLARLY WORK AVAILABILITY LICENSE (THE "LICENSE")

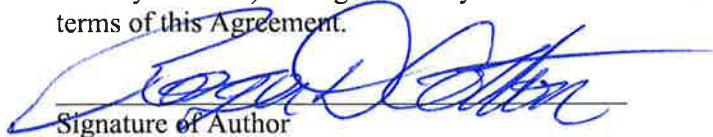

The undersigned (the "Author") is the creator of A Study of the Rhetorical and Thematic Structure of the so-Called "Holiness Code" (Leviticus 17- 26) In Order to Evaluate Unity and Authenticity (the "Work"). The Author affirms that the Work is his/her original work and does not infringe on the copyright or other intellectual property interest of any other person or entity.

If the Author was sponsored or supported by any agency or organization other than Concordia Seminary (the "Seminary") in conjunction with the preparation of the Work or during the period in which the Author created the Work, the Author affirms that he/she has fulfilled any requirements of such sponsoring or supporting agency and has received, in writing, any consent that may be required from such sponsoring or supporting agency to permit the Author to grant this License.

The Seminary maintains "CSL Scholar at Concordia Seminary" (the "Repository") as an institutional repository for scholarly works and makes works held in the Repository available online to anyone seeking access to the works held in the Repository. By this Agreement, the Author grants the Seminary the right and non-exclusive license to (i) keep and maintain such number of copies of the Work in such form(s) as the Seminary may from time to time determine to be appropriate and (ii) make the Work available online through the Repository to anyone seeking access to the Work. The Seminary will upload the Work to the Repository without alteration of the content of the Work and make it available online using a Creative Commons Attribution/Non-commercial/No Derivative Works license accompanied by a copyright statement indicating the continuing rights of the Author in the Work.

It is recognized by the Seminary that (i) the right granted to the Seminary by the Author is a non-exclusive license, (ii) subject to such non-exclusive license all copyright and other intellectual property interests in the Work remain the property of the Author or other third party and (iii) any other use of the Work by the Author or any third party holding an interest in the Work is not restricted by the rights granted to the Seminary under this License.

The Author agrees to indemnify, defend and hold the Seminary, its officers, directors, employees and agents harmless from any liability or claim (including costs of defense of such liability or claim) arising out of any use of the Work made by the Seminary in compliance with the terms of this Agreement.

Signature of Author

1/30/19
Date

Roger D Cotton
Printed Name of Author